TABLE OF CONTENTS

Foreword

Our world has become smaller. The once vast expanses of our earth are now simply a matter of hours away. The significance of this, in terms of the political, social, and economic aspects, means that we must all learn to live together in peace. The many problems all nations face can no longer be settled by violence because the power of total world-wide destruction available to many is so great that one nation may extinguish the lives of all by pressing one tiny button.

The development of the United Nations is a step towards the harmonious relationship which must exist between all peoples. Perhaps someday we can hope for a world organization in which each country retains its sovereignty and yet is part of a universal brotherhood. This is the problem which we and future generations must confront.

CHARLES S. HAMM SR.
Guidance Counselor

Mr. Charles S. Hamm Sr. has become a necessary fixture in Mulligan Jr. High School, not alone for his expert guidance in aiding students toward their proper educational paths, but also for his constant and understanding help making new teachers feel at home in our school.

He brings to his position a vast range of experience, first as a teacher in Maryland and Washington D.C. and ten years of experience in the Central Islip school system. Prior to this, he was Education Advisor for the Department of the Army, in charge of the 7th Corps in Stuttgart, West Germany. He has traveled extensively through such countries as France, Spain, Switzerland, Belgium, and Holland.

At present, in addition to his many responsibilities at Mulligan Jr. High School, he is also a member of the Patchogue-Medford School Board. Mr. Hamm is also President of the Medford Democratic Club, and is a member of many religious and civic organizations in his community.

Mr. Hamm received his B.A. and M.A. at George Washington University. He also completed his E.D.D. at George Washington University. He lives in Patchogue with his wife, Ruth, and is the father of seven children.

Mr. Hamm's wise counselling has aided many a student in choosing a worth-while career, and he helps students to develop their character and personality. Without his assistance, the Guidance Department would not have been as advanced as it is today. He is not only a counselor, but a good friend to students, past and present.

We hope that he will always continue to do his wonderful work at Mulligan Junior High School.

Assistant Principal of Mulligan Junior High School

Dear Students:

The students in the 1965-66 school year have become fine young adults, and I am very proud of their achievements. When you enter the High School, the responsibilities will become even greater than those you have had in this school, but I am sure that you will all be able to cope with them.

I hope your remaining years in High School will be rewarding and enjoyable. May you all have success in the future.

Sincerely,

John F. Abbenante
Assistant Principal
